To our Bay Scholars community

As you may know, Bay Scholars connects underserved youth with powerful educational opportunities at the Bay Area's top college prep schools. Our formula is simple: Recruit great students, connect them with great schools, and remove the greatest barrier to education: cost.

In troubling times, the students of Bay Scholars represent hope. They face severe adversities—like poverty, housing instability, and food insecurity—yet they remain resilient. Like you, the students of Bay Scholars know an education is key to provide them with the tools needed to make lasting change.

Bay Scholars partners with the best schools across the Bay Area, including San Francisco, Alameda, Contra Costa, San Mateo, and Santa Clara counties. Each school is dedicated to preparing students for four-year colleges and universities and beyond. Graduating students leave high school prepared not just for the academic challenges of higher education, but also for the personal challenges of life.

The average tuition at a college prep school in the Bay Area is $19,750 per year — and costs continue to rise. For a Bay Scholars family of four with an average annual income of $58,000, the burden is too great. Bay Scholars exists to help these families to close the gap.

Your investment in Bay Scholars has a direct impact on the lives of our students. A $10,000 four-year scholarship empowers a family in need to say yes to an education that is otherwise out of reach.

Because of you, 100% of Bay Scholars students matriculate to college. Because of you, they are inspired sports captains, engaged actors, and inquisitive journalists. Because of you, Bay Scholars students are making a difference.

Bay Scholars invites you to witness the journeys of our Scholars - thank you for walking with us in support of these promising Scholars.

With Gratitude,

Caitlin Curran Kavanagh
Executive director
MISSION

Bay Scholars promotes a life-altering experience connecting promising youth with transformative educational opportunities at Bay Area Catholic college prep high schools.

Our Vision

Bay Scholars students are thoughtful, engaged, motivated, talented, and seek for themselves a transformational education.

The Bay Scholars Method

Recruit promising students from low income families
E.g. family of four earning below $58,000

Award students a four-year $10,000 merit scholarship for high school

Partner with 12 Bay Area Catholic college prep high schools

Connect Scholars with unique enrichment experiences

Provide a gateway to college and beyond.

In 2008 Janet & Clint Reilly founded a scholarship fund that has grown into Bay Scholars. Now, with its own community of generous donors, Bay Scholars supports hundreds of students each year.

The program focuses on reaching inner-city and minority students, who often face extreme economic and life challenges, and connecting them with a great college prep education. Without economic help, the best high schools are often out of reach, effectively closing the door to college and the future for these students.

The Reilly Family Foundation has a continuing $500,000 annual pledge which, in addition to providing for scholarships, also covers all operating expenses for the organization.

This ensures that every dollar raised for Bay Scholars goes directly to scholarships.
“I work hard so that I can succeed in what I want to pursue in the future. Even though I love sports, I think that education is more important in life.”

“What can you tell my generation about what we need to do to restore trust in our legislative process?”

This question from a Bay Scholars sophomore at the fourth annual Bay Scholars Thanksgiving luncheon, Giving Thanks by Giving Back, gave U.S. Senator Dianne Feinstein an opportunity to inspire attendees, including more than 100 students.

Senator Feinstein’s response from the stage — “get informed and get involved” — is sage advice for anyone looking to effect change. In addition to raising support for our Scholars, this event serves as a forum addressing the critical importance of education equity. Giving Thanks by Giving Back aims to provide a warm and nourishing space to value education, to celebrate student successes, and to honor the innovative work of our Partner Schools.

By connecting students with powerful educational opportunities at the Bay Area’s college prep high schools, Bay Scholars is working with communities across the Bay Area to get informed and to get involved. With continued efforts, we hope to regain the trust — and inspire success — for our next generation of leaders.
My name is Jules Mulwa and I am a Bay Scholar from Archbishop Riordan High School. The Bay Scholars program has opened numerous doors for me; the most important is the first-class Catholic education it enables me to receive.

Archbishop Riordan is my second home now, and it continues to give me all the tools for success. I have a community of teachers, counselors, coaches and brothers who all want me to succeed. Without the Bay Scholars scholarship, I wouldn’t even dream of this.

My father is an immigrant from Machakos, Kenya. He was the oldest child in his family and was born into poverty. He fought tooth and nail to get any education he could. He worked so hard to not only pay for his education but also to provide for his brothers and sisters. He struggled his entire youth just to go to school, and his grind and motivation was a value he raised me with. I thank God everyday for all the blessings in my life, especially my education. The Bay Scholars program is a blessing my father couldn’t even fathom when he was my age.

I love my school. I take eight classes including AP world history, honors world literature and an automotive engineering course just for the experience. I play junior varsity football and I am a varsity wrestler. I am a sophomore house captain on student parliament as well as a Riordan Knight who works to show how amazing Riordan is to other young men who, like me, see how valuable a quality education is.

I try to take advantage of all the opportunities I have, opportunities I wouldn’t have anywhere else.

I worked hard to get accepted into Archbishop Riordan, but I never would have stepped through the door as a Riordan Crusader if it weren’t for the Bay Scholars program.

My favorite teachers: Ms.Rosi, my musical theatre teacher, has shaped me to expressing myself in a way that I never could. Ms. Taylor is a great honors biology teacher who makes it easily thorough to understand, and also makes my thirst for the life processes of understanding to grow. Mrs. Berrios — she makes learning about our lord and savior fun and engaging. She also takes people’s feelings and perspectives into great consideration and discussion when needed.

My heroes: Ayesha Curry, Zendaya, Yara Shahidi, Lilly Singh — all talented women of color who are educated and have a voice in this world. They all spread a positive message in which I would also like to conduct myself in the similar manner.

My greatest accomplishments: Delta Kappa Gamma Award, Citizen Award, MVP in soccer, dancing of most my life at West Coast Performers.

My favorite book: My favorite book has to be Anne Frank [The Diary of a Young Girl] because it refers to the times of the Holocaust and is a personal reference to what a girl in her coming of age years felt as she was going through such an unimaginable experience.
“Ayesha Curry, Zendaya, Yara Shahidi, Lilly Singh — all talented women of color who are educated and have a voice in this world. They all spread a positive message.”
Serra’s mission is to educate men of faith, wisdom and service — leaders who build community and make a difference for the good in our world. The support of Bay Scholars allows twenty-six worthy young men to attend Serra and benefit from our educational, spiritual and character formation programs. Because of this support, Bay Scholars has become a force multiplier for the good not only at Serra, but in all the schools it supports.

With today’s increasingly high cost of living, more and more families have to make greater sacrifices to send their children to a private Catholic High School. Bay Scholars’ generosity helps minimize that sacrifice which allows students to pursue their academic dreams. In addition, this incredible partnership provides our students with numerous academic and personal opportunities for growth. Watching the transformation of our Salesian Bay Scholars students over their high school career is inspiring. Our students are proud to be Bay Scholars recipients, and we are truly grateful for this partnership.

The students in the Bay Scholars program are some of Archbishop Riordan’s best and brightest. Bay Scholars’ laudable work with this group is one of the bright, shining lights in the Bay Area Catholic community. The program touches so many deserving students each year that the effects will indelibly improve communities when the beneficiaries graduate from college and return to be local leaders in business, the arts, politics, education, and the church. The Bay Scholars program is one of Riordan’s most valuable partnerships.

My favorite teachers: One of my favorite teachers is Mrs. Mills, because she gives great advice that will help benefit my future and life choices. Also, she helps me have a better understanding of different concepts in math. I admire this about her because she is an amazing teacher, while being a great listener. She is always there for me. Another teacher is Ms. Hoffman. She has a positive personality, and she makes me laugh. As a result, many students are happy when they see and talk to her. Ms. Hoffman was my teacher last year. However, she still helps me with confusing concepts in English. I admire her because she is able to keep a positive attitude even through bad scenarios.

My heroes: My hero is my grandma. She is a very hard-working person, and she inspires me to help my family in any way. This includes cleaning the house, helping my cousins with homework, and doing my chores. Also, she had many obstacles in her life including her husband and daughters’ death. She was able to conquer this tragic part of her life. If she prevailed through this obstacle, I believe that I can overcome any hurdle. Also, all of my hard work is to represent my grandmother.

My greatest accomplishments: Some of my accomplishments and proudest moments were being part of the top two in my class, earning a spot on varsity volleyball, earning honors at entrance, and winning sophomore class officer. These moments showed me hard work will help me achieve great things.

He played a total of 13 seasons — the first ten with the Golden State Warriors and the last three with the Orlando Magic. He also served for two seasons as director of player development for the Magic. A published author, national speaker and consultant, he currently serves as the community ambassador for the world champion Warriors.

Despite being recruited by several top basketball colleges, Adonal decided to attend Colgate University. My favorite teachers: Ms. Early, Ms. Souza, and Ms. Caldwell are some of my favorite teachers because of their enthusiasm for the subjects they teach and the connection they have with their students. I admire the effort they put into teaching, and I would like to have that level of enthusiasm for my future career.

My heroes: I admire my older sister because although she was unable to finish college, she maintains a positive attitude about it and currently works to return to school. I hope to have the same perseverance she has in her work ethic and overall life, because she supported herself after she moved out at 19, puts others before herself constantly, and still has the energy after a long work day to care for her daughter.

My greatest accomplishments: My proudest moment was the end of the fall semester of my sophomore year. I finished with two B-pluses, the remainder being A’s — all while doing symphonic band and cross-country as extracurriculars.

My favorite book: My current favorite book is The Catcher in the Rye by J.D. Salinger because I can relate with the idea of being scared of the adult world and growing up in general. Holden Caulfield (the main character)’s view of the world impacted my perspective on it, as I also feel sometimes that I do not want anything to change, but I soon realize that it is inevitable.

The Bishop O’Dowd High School community is mourning the passing of President Steve Phelps, Ed.D., a passionate and visionary leader and man of principle and kindness.

Phelps, 73, passed away on December 26, 2017, after suffering complications from a heart procedure. He is survived by his wife, Sue; children Amy and Chris; and grandson, Boston.

“For Steve, God’s grace was discoverable every day at school — in the students, in the learning, in the teachers, in the families,” Principal James Childs said. “Steve embodied the joy that resulted from the ministry of education in our Catholic school. He was so proud of that work here at O’Dowd, and we are all so grateful to him for it.”

President at O’Dowd since 2005, Phelps’s tenure was rich with accomplishment.

He led successful capital campaigns that financed $20 million worth of campus renovations and program investments. Among these completed projects are 45 renovated classrooms, including two state-of-the-art chemistry labs, updated technology infrastructure, completion of the LEED Platinum-certified Center for Environmental Studies and the adjoining Living Lab. Phelps also nurtured broad community support for the school’s Transforming Lives Annual Fund which in 2016-17 provided $2.4 million in funding for financial aid and other mission-critical programs.

Phelps spearheaded the one-to-one laptop program (O’Dowd was one of the first schools in the Bay Area to implement such a program), and devoted time, personnel, funding and energy to enhance the technology infrastructure that would support expanding tech growth. Phelps recognized that the mission of Catholic educators is to reach every student entrusted to them. With that focus, he dedicated resources to significantly expand the supplemental academic support services at O’Dowd, including a mentoring program for at-risk students. Additionally, he supported the development of a comprehensive tutoring program before, during and after school.

Under Phelps’s guidance, more than 98 percent of O’Dowd graduates go on to college, including some of the most selective schools in the country.

Understanding that the school needed to emerge as a leader in Catholic education to further extend its mission, Phelps dedicated significant resources to marketing/communications and admissions from the day he started at O’Dowd. Applications to the school have doubled since 2005.

Phelps also made it a priority to be a leader in Diocesan-level planning and to support the elementary schools with money, time and effort.

At the time of his passing, Phelps was in the process of revising the school’s Master Plan, which lays out a framework for creating a sustainable 21st century school that prioritizes adaptability and sustainability, drives student discovery, demonstrates stewardship of the land, and serves as a community resource.

O’Dowd Board of Regents Chairperson Kevin Kelly said that with remarkable vision and skill, Phelps turned O’Dowd into a school that responds to the diverse needs of today’s students and serves as a model nationwide for how inclusive Catholic core values can animate education.

“He built O’Dowd into a pillar of the East Bay educational landscape and became an icon in the process. He leaves an incomparable legacy,” Kelly said.

Phelps was deeply connected to the students — he knew their names and activities they were involved with, and he was ever-present at games, activities, tournaments, plays, concerts and liturgies.

“Our family has been blessed to have had Dr. Phelps in our lives for two generations,” Rhea Butler Wisherop said. “The impact he made on my brother and other young men as a coach in the ‘70s was invaluable, continuing through the decades to my own children’s time at O’Dowd.”

Former O’Dowd principal Pam Shay said Phelps continually encouraged colleagues in their professional growth to enhance academic quality at O’Dowd.

“He was always impressing upon his staff to read the latest in leadership and educational research and bring that level of innovation to the classroom,” she said. “And he was dedicated to diversity in hiring, ensuring that women and people of color were placed in influential positions in administration.”

Phelps expanded the budget for professional development significantly and leveraged the emerging resources through No Child Left Behind federal funding. He also developed a summer institute for other Catholic school educators to experience 21st professional development on the O’Dowd campus.

In the broader community, Phelps was recognized by the National Catholic Educational Association, the University of San Francisco, and U.S. Catholic magazine for leadership and the ability to convert research-based concepts into programs and policies that assist Catholic schools in achieving their missions. He was also recognized for his 20 years of service as a youth worker, teacher, coach and mentor to hundreds of inner city youth in San Francisco’s Hunters Point and the Western Addition neighborhoods beginning in 1965. An energetic consensus builder, he was a frequent presenter at national and regional conferences of school administrators on the design of effective 21st-century schools.

Prior to coming to O’Dowd, Phelps served as a teacher, administrator and coach at San Francisco’s St. Ignatius College Preparatory for more than 30 years. While at St. Ignatius, he spent 10 years working with the Jesuits at the national level to help re-imagine Jesuit education for the 21st century.

How did you learn about Bay Scholars? What did being selected as a Bay Scholars student mean to you? I learned about Bay Scholars through my mother. She had done a significant amount of research for scholarships, so that I would be able to attend a private school. Being selected as a Bay Scholar meant that my path for multiple possibilities had been open. I would be able to attend a Catholic high school and receive a great education. It gave me multiple opportunities and resources such as great teachers, advisors, and classmates that would motivate me to work harder towards my goal of attending a four-year college.

What is your favorite memory of your time at Mercy? My favorite memory at Mercy was being a part of the swim team. I was surrounded by amazing girls who motivated me to do my personal best and beat my swim times. I think my favorite memories will always be our practices when we would do kicking drills and try to give each other high fives as we passed each other or when we would yell at each other at meets to go faster to beat our personal times.

To what do you attribute your inner strength? I attribute my inner strength to my family and my teachers. My family has always made sacrifices to ensure that I would receive a great education. They have been through so much, but they keep working harder and I hope to one day be able to provide for them the way they always have for me. They taught me that no matter how many times things do not go my way or I feel like my world is falling apart, I am the author of my own story and I get to determine how I want my life to be played out. My teachers at Mercy were always my friends, and they are great advocates for their students. I was always able to go to them for advice and they made me realize that grades are not everything, the lessons and concepts you learn are more important than any letter grade. Both my family and teachers taught me one valuable lesson: Never give up, you can do it.

Because of Bay Scholars ... I was able to be a part of a community where my values, talents, and ideas were appreciated and where I was able to grow into the young adolescent that I am today.
“Both my family and teachers taught me one valuable lesson: Never give up, you can do it.”
A NIGHT OUT WITH THE WARRIORS

Through a growing partnership with the Warriors Community Foundation, 40 Bay Scholars students from across the Bay Area had the experience of a lifetime at Oracle Arena. Invited to attend as the Golden State Warriors took on the Atlanta Hawks on March 23, 2018, our students showed up with their Golden State spirit! Scholars received a behind-the-scenes tour of Oracle Arena and were invited to sit courtside for the pregame shoot-around. Perhaps nothing could top the excitement of being featured on the video screen at halftime and cheering the Warriors on to an easy win.
“Words cannot express how grateful I am to have been able to watch my favorite team in the NBA practice courtside. Not only was I able to witness some of my favorite players shoot only a few feet away from me, but I was able to enjoy a game without any distractions, except for when Curry got hurt.”

“Thank you so much for giving Bay Scholars the generous opportunity to attend the Warriors game on March 23rd. I had so much fun! It was the first Warriors game I had ever attended and it was very entertaining. The tour was very interesting as well. This experience is definitely one I will remember for a long time. I hope to attend a game again in the near future. Thank you for your support! GO WARRIORS!”

“Thank you so much for your generous donation to the Bay Scholars. We all had a wonderful time watching the game and having the delicious snacks. It was such a treat to have the behind-the-scenes tour, and our guide was amazing. It was a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity for most of us and we will remember it forever. :)

How did you learn about Bay Scholars? What did being selected as a Bay Scholars student mean to you? Until this day I still remember clearly how I found out about Bay Scholars. It was a couple of days before my eighth grade graduation and my family and I got a letter sent home stating that I had been chosen to receive this scholarship from an organization called Bay Scholars. My family and I were completely shocked, and to receive this tremendous scholarship was such a blessing. Being selected as a Bay Scholars student meant the world to me, because to be quite honest if I did not receive this scholarship I probably would not have been able to attend Riordan. This scholarship really helped my family and with that I was able to attend Riordan all four years which were the best four years of my life.

What is your favorite memory of your time at Riordan? Whenever I think of Riordan I automatically think of my LIFE team, all the retreats I have attended, the dances, sports teams I played on, etc. Those are really important memories to me, but the one closest to my heart was being selected to be on the LIFE team and attending our LIFE team retreat during the summer. The retreat is not like any ordinary retreat — we had the opportunity to do it with our sister and brother Marianist schools from across the United States. We had many schools from Hawaii, Los Angeles, and St. Louis Missouri. I will never forget the relationships and bonds I have created on that retreat. I still keep in touch with all of them until this day.

To what do you attribute your inner strength? This one is easy for me and it would have to be my faith, because without my faith I would not have what I have or be in the position I am today. I am not saying life is perfect, because we all have our struggles — including myself — but if we just look at the big picture and think, “this is happening for me” instead of “why is this happening to me?” Life is a roller coaster, but as long as we have a positive mindset and take charge of our own lives everything will be OK!

What words would you offer for future Bay Scholars? Anything and everything is possible — you are the future leaders of the world. You can do whatever you put your mind to, but remember everything requires hard work and a positive attitude. Be kind and give back to your community in any way you can. Last thing, remember you never know who is having a hard time out there, smile and always lend a helping hand :)
“You can do whatever you put your mind to, but remember everything requires hard work and a positive attitude.”

My favorite teachers: Ms. Mills is not only my math teacher; she has been a great mentor for me at ICA. I come to her with problems and she helps me work through them with confidence and determination. Ms. Liem is my science teacher this year and is by far one of my favorite teachers. She always tries to make the class fun with jokes, even if no one laughs at them. Ms. Benson is not a teacher in a classroom, but she is a teacher in my life. At ICA, she is our college counselor and is always someone I can talk to.

My heroes: Tris Prior in the Divergent book series is someone I look up to. In the series she always stood up for what she believed in and didn’t let the status quo limit her.

My greatest accomplishments: The strongest life experience I’ve had so far in my life is losing an election. I ran for ASB, our co-presidents position of the student body, this year and thought I was going to win. But when it came down to the votes, I didn’t win. I was so devastated; it felt like all my hard work meant nothing. That all changed when a teacher handed me a note that said, “For what it’s worth, I voted for you.” All day at school, I was greeted by teachers telling me they were devastated for me, too. And soon, I realized something very important. Although I didn’t hold the title of a leader, I was seen as one by some of the most important people in my life, and that was pretty priceless.

My favorite book: A book I’d recommend is The Great Gatsby. It’s about the story of a man who is consumed by the goal of being rich that he ultimately loses himself in it. You also get to see how money changes people in the story.
“Although I didn’t hold the title of a leader, I was seen as one by some of the most important people in my life, and that was pretty priceless.”
